

Webinar Series Coming This Fall

Women in Educational Leadership: Moving from Surviving to Thriving

Presented by: Nancy Gustafson and Dr.
Karen LeDuc

Please join us for this unique webinar series!

Women in Educational Leadership: Moving from Surviving to Thriving is an interactive workshop designed for current and aspiring superintendents throughout New England who wish to explore the unique challenges of women in leadership and develop their strengths to thrive in challenging situations.

Are you currently a woman in the Superintendent role? Or are you in another educational leadership role and looking to connect with other women leaders to discuss and strategize around the unique challenges that you face?

Join us for a series of virtual workshops:

- to explore and refine our stories as leaders
- to build a personal learning network of women leaders
- to develop strategies and skills to continue to develop and grow as educational learners and leaders
- to develop a personal action plan for growth as a leader

Come work with NESDEC, learn from each other, and network to thrive as a woman in executive leadership!

About the Presenters. . .

Nancy Gustafson recently retired after over 12 years as a Superintendent and another 12 years as a central office and building administrator. She has a Master's degree from Boston University and a CAGS from Lesley University.

Dr. Karen LeDuc is a former Assistant Superintendent and Curriculum Coordinator with over 25 years of experience in central office administration. She earned her doctorate from Lesley University.

Schedule:

Dates: Thursdays September 30, October 14 and 28, November 18, December 2 and 16

Times: 3:30-4:45 p.m.

Location: Virtual

Registration Deadline: September 20, 2021

Cost: $295 per person for NESDEC affiliates and $395 per person for non-affiliates

Payment: Registration form and either payment or purchase order are required to register. An email will be sent to the attendee to confirm registration.

Be Sure to Register Early – Space is Limited!
To register, fill out our registration form online.